

Restorative Justice / Victim Youth Conferencing (VYC) *

For Juveniles involved in County / School Diversion Programs, Juvenile Courts, and Juvenile Probation

Resources Provided by Nebraska's ODR-approved Mediation Centers

VYC FACT-SHEET WITH STATISTICS AND BASIC INFORMATION 2017

What is Victim Youth Conferencing (VYC)? Victim youth conferencing (victim offender conferencing or victim offender mediation) is one of several restorative dialogue models allowing young people and those that they have harmed to attempt to repair the harm resulting from an offense through safe, constructive dialogue. Trained facilitators first meet individually with the victim and the youth to listen to the stories of each, and to determine whether a joint VYC conference is appropriate and whether each individual voluntarily wishes to participate. If so, the VYC facilitator convenes a joint conference in which the victim and youth are guided to talk about the offense and its impacts, offer apologies, and propose a reparation plan. If agreed to, the plan is signed, and is tracked for completion and fulfillment.

Nebraska's Pilot Victim Youth Conferencing Shows High Success: 2015-2016 (see box below)

Nebraska Pilot Year Statistics for 70 youth receiving Victim Offender (Youth) Conferencing (VOC / VYC) services through ODR-approved mediation centers in Omaha, Lincoln, and Scottsbluff (Mar. 2015 – July 2016):

- 93% of completed VOC's resulted in a reparations agreement for the juvenile to make amends.
- 85% of reparations agreements were successfully fulfilled by juveniles and 5% were in process.
- 81% of juveniles and 89% of victims reported feeling the criminal justice system was more responsive to their needs with VOC.
- A full 100% of victims and 97% of juveniles and their parents would recommend participating in VOC to others in similar situations.

What are the benefits of Victim Offender/Youth Conferencing?

1. Victims express higher satisfaction for being involved and for having a meaningful voice in the process
2. Offenders have higher rates of completing restitution and community service
3. Research demonstrates lower recidivism rates for offenders who meet with their actual victim (see National research studies, following)
4. Community volunteerism increases a sense of community investment
5. Interagency collaboration results in stronger services throughout a county
6. Earlier interventions with restorative dialogue lead to overall cost-savings

2017 Compiled by the Center for Restorative Justice & Peacemaking, University of Minnesota

* Victim Youth Conferencing is the updated terminology, replacing Victim Offender Conferencing. The process and protocols are the same. VYC and VOC will be used interchangeably throughout this Fact Sheet. Rev. Oct. 2017

How Does Victim Youth (Offender) Conferencing (VYC) Work in Nebraska?

The Office of Dispute Resolution (ODR) coordinates a network of 6 nonprofit, community-based mediation centers[±] that covers every county in Nebraska. Various referral partnerships have been established for the centers to receive VOC/VYC case referrals from:

1. Schools (pre-arrest / pre-charge)
2. Law Enforcement (diversion)
3. County Attorneys (diversion)
4. Courts (pre-adjudication)
5. Probation (condition of court sentence)
6. Post-sentencing (for severe crimes)

Nebraska's statutory authorization for juvenile mediation and conferencing includes: N.R.S. §43-274 providing that the county or city attorney may offer victim offender mediation as part of pretrial diversion; §43-245 which requires specific juvenile mediation training for mediators affiliated with ODR-approved mediation centers; §43-247.01 providing for confidentiality and privileged communications of youth conferencing; and §43-247.04 which provides that the State Court Administrator's office is responsible for contracting for juvenile victim offender dialogue and related services.

What is the sequence of a typical VYC / VOC restorative dialogue case?

1. Case referred to regional mediation center from partner agency
2. Initial letters and phone calls to both parties
3. Preparation meeting(s) with youth and parent
4. Preparation meeting(s) with impacted party (victim)
5. Joint mediation/conference meeting
6. Tracking of reparation agreement
7. Completed case information sent to partner agency

What if the actual victim chooses to not participate?

One of VOC/VYC's core principles is that a victim always has full discretion as to whether to meet with the youth or not. If an actual victim chooses not to participate, trained victim surrogates and community members participate in conference meetings with the juvenile. In this way, every youth can still be part of a meaningful restorative conversation with the opportunity to enter into a signed reparation agreement.

How Does Victim Youth (Offender) Conferencing (VYC) Work in Nebraska? (continued)

What are the best practices for Victim Youth (Offender) Conferencing?

- Adequate screening and preparation of parties
- Voluntary participation of all parties
- Guidance by third-party mediators / facilitators
- Confidentiality agreed by all participants
- Invitation for support people and family to be present
- The power of storytelling, listening, and being heard
- Consensual agreements for repairing harms and setting goals

A typical dialogue process covers the following:

1. Dialogue about the offence
2. Discussion of all impacts
3. Exploration and determination of needed reparation

The three main themes of restorative dialogue:

1. Ownership: the youth takes ownership and responsibility for his or her actions
2. Empathy: both the person harmed and the youth may experience empathy
3. Reparation: the youth and person harmed determine how to repair the harm

This sequence is designed to help all parties shift from the past to the future, and also to help youth internalize their motivation to apologize and make amends by considering how their actions affect other people. This ‘response-ability’ gives a new meaning to accountability which is no longer a negative punishment that a youth ‘takes’, but rather a positive obligation to make things right that a youth ‘gives’.

“With the success of the pilot Victim Youth Conferencing (VYC) project, the Court Administrator's Office, the Office of Dispute Resolution (ODR) and the mediation centers are developing a three-year statewide strategic plan to expand VYC services statewide. Two private Nebraska foundations have invited us to submit a comprehensive proposal take us through 2020. I strongly encourage your involvement in partnering with the mediation center in your region, including the development of Memorandums of Understanding, in order to integrate this evidence-based service for youth in our systems.”

Corey Steel, State of Nebraska Court Administrator (Jan. 2017)

National Research Reporting Outcomes for Victim Offender Conferencing

A. “Prison, Police, and Programs: Evidence-Based Options That Reduce Crime and Save Money” (November 2013, Washington State Institute for Public Policy)

Since the 1990s, the Washington State legislature has directed the Washington State Institute for Public Policy (WSIPP) to identify “evidence-based” policies that can improve particular outcomes. On the chart on page 6 -- “Correctional Interventions for Juvenile Offenders” -- Victim Offender Mediation is determined as the only evidence-based restorative practice. All listed programs were included for their positive impact on reducing recidivism among juvenile offenders. With respect to the monetary or cost-effective value of victim offender mediation, its “odds of a net present value” was 89%.

B. Three Meta-Analysis Studies Showing Positive Recidivism Outcomes for VOC / VOM

1. Canadian Meta-Analysis – Latimer/Dowden/Muise (2001)

- 35 studies (27 Victim Offender Mediation; 8 Family Group Conferencing)
- 26 youth programs, 9 adult offender programs
- Positive impact on v/o satisfaction, restitution completion, and reduced recidivism

2. US Meta-Analysis -- Nugent/Umbreit (2003)

- Total sample of 9,307 juvenile offenders in VOM/VOC RJ programming
- Sample came from 19 program sites (15 prior studies)
- 26% reduction in recidivism

3. UK Meta-Analysis -- Sherman/Strang (2007)

- Restorative Justice: The Evidence: “Far more evidence on RJ, with positive results, than for most innovations in criminal justice.”
- Included randomized controlled studies by Sherman and Strang
- Reduced recidivism for both violent and property offenders
- RJ programming reduced costs when used as a diversion

C. Research Results from Oregon’s Juvenile Victim Offender Mediation (see box below)

Research Results from Juvenile Victim Offender Mediation

By Mark Umbreit, R.B. Coates, and Betty Vos (2001)

In a study of six Oregon counties’ use of VOM, phone interviews were conducted with juvenile victim offender mediation program managers and mediators, 104 victims and 93 youth offenders, and 55 stakeholders from respective criminal justice systems. The study found:

- 80% of victims and offenders felt positive about the mediation
- 90% of them felt the reparation agreement was fair to both parties
- 88% (average for 6 sites) of reparation agreements were completed
- 70% of victims felt that offenders were adequately held accountable
- 90% of victims would participate again and recommend program to others

*

DC

‡Nebraska’s six regional ODR-approved non-profit mediation centers.

Nebraska Mediation Center Regions

Mediation West, Scottsbluff	308-635-2002	charles@mediationwest.org
Central Mediation Center, Kearney	308-237-4692	info@centralmediationcenter.com
The Resolution Center, Beatrice	402-223-6061	info@theresolutioncenter.org
Nebraska Mediation Center, Fremont	402-753-9415	nmc@nebraskamediationcenter.com
The Mediation Center, Lincoln	402-441-5740	info@themediationcenter.org
Concord Mediation Center, Omaha	402-345-1131	contact@concord-mediation.com

Nebraska State Court Administrator’s Office, Office of Dispute Resolution, Debora Denny, J.D., Director
 P. O. Box 98910, Lincoln, NE 68509; 402-471-2766; debora.denny@nebraska.gov

2017 Compiled by the Center for Restorative Justice & Peacemaking, University of Minnesota
 * Victim Youth Conferencing is the updated terminology, replacing Victim Offender Conferencing. The process and protocols are the same. VYC and VOC will be used interchangeably throughout this Fact Sheet. Rev. Oct. 2017